Sleuths Will Go Back, in Spite of Victory, to War on the Easy Tongs-Fines Paid From Big Yellow Roll-Cooks Caught on Night Off Shout "Banzail" in Court.

Weary of making Hip Sing and On Leong Tong raids, Detectives Curran and Corbett, the star Elizabeth street station house sleuths who do stunts in Chinatown, varied the monotony early yesterday morning by raiding a Japanese joint. They are going back to the chinks.

"No more Japs and jiu-jitsu for mine, said Curran feelingly, when he got safely back to the station house after the raid. "I don't wonder that the Russians take it on the run," soliloquized Corbett.

Capt. Kear of the Elizabeth street station house got a hunch this week that the Japanese employees of wealthy New York families gamble away their earnings in a resort at 2 Mott street. Tales of big stakes lost and won have kept the cops uneasy, and Curran and Corbett were sent out to

In the basement at 2 Mott street is a Japanese restaurant, and everything was quiet when the two sleuths picked the steel lock on the outer door and let themselves in at 2 o'clock in the morning. They found themselves in a large room hung with tapestries. The entrance to another room was screened by a heavy curtain, and, peeping through, the sleuths saw eleven sturdy young Japs seated at a table play-

The identification of the body was brought about through a shoe bearing the name "George A. Stanford, 633 Newark avenue, Jersey City," which the girl wore. A young girl clerk in Stanford's store, when she saw the shoe, said she remembered having sold a pair like it to Mazie Dennis. Later the father identified the body at the morgue in Newark. The girl's parents say that she had suffered from heart disease for some and fan-tan," replied Corbett.

At a table apart from the rest a waiter was serving a lone customer with some-thing that looked like beer. In front of each player was stacked a pile of chips and a mound of them lay heaped in the centre of

Your Spring Suit Is Ready Today AT WANAMAKER'S

GOOD many hundreds of men are thinking seriously of their Spring Suits this morning, and we are going to help some hundreds of them to a most satisfying solu. tion of the question.

In the first place, we have a showing of Men's Clothing here that cannot be equaled in a long journey around town. The fabrics selected are the smartest that the mills have produced this season. The styles are the very best that have been brought out. The variety will satisfy the most particular man, The manner in which Wanamaker Clothing is made will in particular appeal to the man who likes his clothing to look as well six months after he has bought it, as it did when he first put it on. The details of construction in the Wanamaker Clothing assure him of exactly this fact. Then every fabric used in Wanamaker suits is absolutely all-wool, a statement that can scarcely be made by two other stores in the country. Here are a few brief suggestions of suits we would like to have you see: Sack Suits, of fancy cheviots and wor-stout sizes. The very best value on the steds, neat gray worsteds in pin-checks. Diagonals, stripes and plaids are the most popular styles this season. Prices ford and black untinished worsteds, in the hotel about 1 o'clock Thursday morning as he was entering the room where the girl's body was found fifteen hours later. Although convinced that no crime was committed, the police are continuing their search for the girl's companion. They want to question him in regard to the headache powder which he told the hotel clerk he had bought to give to the girl; they want to find out whether the girl was dead when he left the room and, if so, why he didn't report it to the hotel proprietor. John Dennis, the girl's father, is a painter. His wife says that Mazie left home Wednesday afternoon, saying that she was going to the theatre in the evening and that she would not be home that night, but would stay with an aunt in Orange. She did not tell her parents with whom she was going to the theatre. Her mother says that she had been very friendly for a long time with Charles Silverdore, a son of Moritz V. A. Silverdore of S Beacon avenue, Jersey City, and she understood that they were as good as engaged. Silverdore, it was said yesterday, recently had trouble with his father and has been living in a boarding house at 18 Cottage street. It was said at the board-RNHEI Broadway and 9th.

WIFE LEAVES RICHARD K. FOX

SHE'S GONE WITH A YOUNGER MAN, HE SAYS; SUES FOR DIVORCE.

"Police Gazette's" Proprietor Names a Handsome Austrian of 30 as His Wife's Companion in Her Flight to Europe -She's 58 and Travelled as His Aunt.

Through the filing of papers in a divorce Stein, a handsome young Austrian. Mrs. Fox is said to be 58 and Mr. Stein about 30. Moses H. Grossman, counsel for Mr. Fox, appeared before Justice Dowling yesterday and secured an order allowing a summons in a suit for divorce brought by Fox to be served by publication. This was done because Mrs. Fox's whereabouts are unknown. She is supposed to be somewhere in Europe. The details of the elopement are such as Mrs. Howard Pugh of 4 Fifth street. Clifton have often made a great double page feature for Mr. Fox's paper. Mrs. Fox is tall and handsome. She does not look the 58 years attributed to her in her husband's complaint by eighteen years at least. Mr. and Mrs. Fox were travelling abroad last year. Somewhere in Europe they met Mr. Stein. He is young and rich, as well as handsome. He liked the Fox family and they liked him. They jaunted about Europe together.

Preston, 14 years old, Edith, 11 years old, and Howard; Jr., 4 years old, not to sit up late. Long after the younger children had gone to bed. Preston, who sleeps on the third floor, heard a noise below and quietly slipped downstairs to investigate. He saw a man run along the hallway and escape from the house. The intruder had packed up some silver and cut glass ware in the dining room, tut left it behind in his hurry to get away. On the table was found a note directing Mrs. Pugh to hide $50 in a certain place near the house. The burglar said if he failed to find the money he would steal her youngest son and hold him for a ransom. The note was badly written and the police were unable to make it all out.

It was said at the Weehawken police station last night that there are no clues to the identity of the crook. It is believed the man had the note written when he en-In October Mr. and Mrs. Fox parted from Mr. Stein at Cherbourg. That was the last Mr. Fox saw of him—but not Mrs. Fox. According to the affidavits, Mrs. Fox old her husband last January that he had been working too hard and ought to take his on, Charles, to Palm Beach for a few days. She would stay and keep house. The men of the family took her advice.

When they got back there was no Mrs.

Fox-only a note from her. It said simply that she had gone away and was not coming back. Private detectives were put on the case at once. And according to the papers in the suit they found these things: Mr. Stein had followed the pair to the

Mr. Stein had followed the pair to the United States. He lived a week or two at the Navarre; then he took rooms in a house in West Thirty-sixth street. There Mrs. Fox visited him nearly every afternoon. As soon as Mr. Fox left for Florida, Stein and Mrs. Fox took passage on the steamer New York for France. She was booked as Hermina Fuchs and he as Alfred Freiberg. He represented her as his sunt. Their photographs were identified by the agent of the line and by others.

Mrs. Fox told Mrs. Jennie Carroll that she was going to leave. After arriving in France Mrs. Fox wrote to Mrs. Carroll saying that she was never coming back. There was no mention of Mr. Stein. Mrs. Fox gave notice that she could be reached the patients was disturbed. Night Clerk Irwin smalled smoke in the office at 6 o'clock and found that the canvas covering of the steam pipes in the office was afire. He notified Supt. Fisher and the fire was quickly extinguished. Some one, however; rang the fire box at the corner of Park ing for them to do. There was considerable smoke on the lower floor but none of it got into the wards. There was so little excitement that no one above the first floor knew there was a fire in the building. Supt. Fisher said that $20 would cover the days see

There was no mention of Mr. Stein. Mrs. Fox gave notice that she could be reached through her son by her first marriage, Robert H. Dods of London. Mr. Fox cabled Dods. He got no satisfaction. So he brought suit through House, Grossman & Vorhaus.

Mr. Fox is now 62 years old. He married the present Mrs. Fox in London in 1885. Those were the palmy days of the Polics Gasette, when Sullivan, Ryan and others were struggling for the $10,000 diamond belt, and the marriage attracted attention. Both had been married before, and each had one son. There is no issue of this marriage.

They lived in upper Fifth avenue and entertained a great deal. For several years they have spent much time abroad. They have always been considered a singularly happy couple.

Mrs. Fox took with her six trunks of cipthes and personal belongings. She said in her letter to Mrs. Carroll that she had taken only her private property.

Court Orders Duncan Young to Trial. Supreme Court Justice Truax decided yesterday that Duncan Young, under indictment since February, 1899, for the murder of George Eberhardt, must be tried for the third time by June or admitted to bail. Young has been convicted twice, but the Appeliate Division has ordered a new trial after each conviction. Harrison county. The prisoners were tried together and a life sentence given in each case. Jett accepted his sentence, and was afterward tried for the killing of Town Marcha! Cockrill for which he was sentenced to death.

VISITING SISTER WON HIM. Sullivan's Former Housekeeper Held on

Charge of Persecution and Threats. Blanche Richards of 304 East Thirtythird street, an attractive middle aged woman, wearing much gleaming jewelry was accused in Yorkville police court yesterday of making John J. Sullivan's life a burden to him for several weeks back.

Two years ago Sullivan, who lives at 219 East Twenty-eighth street, became a widower. He had two children and suit in the Supreme Court yesterday, it employed Miss Richards as his housecame out that the wife of Richard K. Fox, | keeper. She soon became infatuated with proprietor of the Police Gazette, has been on him, he alleges. It was not long before the missing list for two months. He her sister came to visit her and remained charges that she has eloped with one Alfred a few days.

The sister was prettier still, and Sullivan fell in love with her and married her in December, 1904. There was no longer fell in love with her and married her in December, 1904. There was no longer any need for a housekeeper, and Blanche, much angered, had to retire. Since that time Sullivan says she has made various threats, going to his house often and threatening to throw vitriol or carbolic acid in his face. She also took every opportunity, he said, to meet him in the street and annoy him in all sorts of petty ways. Sullivan managed to stand it all until vesterday, when, he alleges, the woman Sullivan managed to stand it all until yesterday, when, he alleges, the woman went to his house and began emptying garbage barrels against his windows. Fireman Burns of Hook and Ladder, whose headquarters adjoin the building, attempted to stop her and got a can of ashes over his head. Then Sullivan had Miss Richards arrested.

Magistrate Ommen held her in default of $500 for examination to-day.

CLUB ROW OVER CARD PARTIES. Disagreement Over Propriety of Playing for Prizes Arouses Verona, N. J. OBANGE, N. J., March 17.-The Isabella Literary Club of Verona is in a ferment over the question of playing cards for prizes. At a meeting of the club held on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. William Smith on Elm road, the question of the revision of the constitution came up, and Mrs. Charles M. Bloxham proposed that a by-law be passed prohibiting card playing for prizes.

The effect produced was astonishing Member after member expressed her sentiments with an intensity that made the atmosphere torrid. Mrs. John W. Slayback, champion of the opposition, advanced the argument that the floor of the club the argument that the floor of the club was not the proper place upon which to discuss moral questions, and after quiet had been restored Mrs. Bloxham was permitted to make the motion that "hereafter the Isabella club of Verona does not give prize parties." The motion was put to a rising vote and was lost, 14 to 12.

The defeated ones sought the floor again, and the others replied with equal vigor. As a result of the wrangle which followed, the president, Mrs. Fillmore Condit, who is unalterably opposed to card 'playing, resigned, and the vice-president, Mrs. Roland Jacobus, refused to take the chair, so the meeting broke up. Mrs. Bloxham says that if no further action is taken at the next meeting she will consider the question lost and will present her resignation.
